

FAQ

What are some key dates to save?

- December 16: Application deadline
- January 9: Teams are notified if they are selected
- January 13: Deadline to respond to reserve spot
- February: Virtual Coaching Session
- March 31 & April 1: In- Person WSP&LS

What is the application process? There are two parts to the application process. At least three or four team members must apply and participate in both parts. The first requirement is that each interested student needs to apply (AT THIS LINK) by December 16th.

I'm having registration issues, who should I contact? Reach out to Abby Everard at abby.everard@wmbsf.org for assistance with registration.

Can our school have more than one team? Thirty teams will be accepted with only one team representing each University. Each team will be asked to provide a faculty advisor or contact as part of the initial application process.

How many people should be on a team? Are there any restrictions on who can apply?

The Women's Stock Pitch Competition is an undergraduate competition, but there is no restriction as to academic year (senior, junior, etc.) or major. At least two members must apply by the deadline and participate in the preliminary round to compete. If your team competed at a previous Women's Stock Pitch Competition at William & Mary, at most, only one of those team members may join this year's team.

Do all team members have to identify as a woman? The Women's Stock Pitch & Leadership Summit is an inclusive event in compliance with William & Mary's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

When will teams be selected and informed if they are competing? Teams will be informed they have been selected by January 9th 2023.

What if our team is not selected? Can we still be involved? Yes, teams can send a sophomore representative to attend the event on March 31st.

What is a waitlisted team? The competition permits 30 teams to compete. A waitlisted team is a team that is not within the initial 30 teams but if a team is unable to attend, the waitlist may be invited to compete.

WOMEN'S STOCK PITCH & LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

What costs are reimbursed? We provide most meals. During the application process you can apply for financial aid to help pay for your hotel and flights. You will be refunded for your flight and travel costs if your financial aid package is accepted. In order to be reimbursed for participating in the William & Mary Women's Stock Pitch & Leadership Summit, attendance is required at 100% of programming, unless an excused absence. Most meal will be provided to attendees.

How do we get refunded? More details to come.

What is the schedule for March 31st? See the 2023 Proposed Schedule document for the event day schedule.

What will be the format of the stock pitch competition? The event will begin with preliminary round stock pitches, followed by a networking session with alumni and corporate partners. In the afternoon, we will have the final round of stock pitches, where the final few teams will pitch in front of an audience. We will end the event with a dinner keynote.

What is the Coaching Session? The Coaching Session is a mock networking environment where students can respond to prompts and engage professionals with conversation while receiving real-time feedback on their networking skills.

What is the Career Exploration Session? These "Industry 101" sessions provide a high-level understanding of the different financial and professional industries that are available to you upon graduation. This will take place on campus.

What guidelines should I follow when creating a pitch? Stock pitch teams will present a "buy" recommendation of a stock of their choice for an endowment fund with a twelve-month holding period. The standards for what constitutes a "buy" can differ widely among professionals and the context of the decision. For this competition, a "buy" will imply the stock's expected total return (dividend yield and price appreciation) over the coming 12 months will exceed a long term, broad market average return of 10%. Deliverables include a ten-minute PowerPoint presentation and a two-page executive summary.
